GAMES TODAY.

Washington at St. Louis. Brooklyn at Cincinnati. Buitimore at Pittsburg Philadelphia at Cleveland. Boston at Louisville. New York at Chicago.

Louisville, Ky., July 21.-Good pitching won both games for Louisville. Cunningham and German opposed each other in the first contest. Only two hits were made off Canningham by the Schators up to the fifth inning. In the eighth and ninth, to 1, went Pete Kitchen, second; Ben bowever, hifs were bunched, but it was Kaiad, third Time, 1.32. too late to win. At first it seemed as if the Senators would win the second con-1st with case. Dowling, Louisville's kid pitcher, was sent to the box. He pitched three innings, and it was during these that the Senators scored their runs. Fraser replaced bim, and was practically invincible. But two hits were made off his delivery in the remaining six innings. Mo-James was knocked out of the box in the second game. game Washington was retired in one, two. three order, and in the fifth and sixth naings nothing was accomplished. Then the Senators found Conningham's delivery McGuire followed DeMontreville's out with a hit to center and Tucker did likewise. Wagner fembled the ball and Tucker ad vanced to second, while McGuire started home. He was nabbed at the plate Reilly hit to left, scoring Tucker, and went to second on the throw-in. O'Brien hit to center, scoring him. In the ninth McGoire, Tucker, and German hit safely, but only one run resulted A tiase on balls, a sacrifice and a hit by Stafford enabled Louisville to score a run in the first. In the fifth, hits were bunched. Clingman singled to left, and Cunningham sacrificed, but Clarke forced Clingman at third. McCreery then singled past second. Wagner hit to left for two bases and Stafford followed with a triple to the same point, three runs ulting. Bunched hits brought in any other run in the seventh.

McJames was put in to pitch the second game and was knocked out in the third nning. Clarke knecked a home run in the first, and in the second two singles and some clover base running by Werder who stole second and third, added another After Clarke had fouled out in the third McCreery hit to center and took sec and on a wild throw-in. Wagner knocked a triple to right center and McCreery s ored. Wagner being caught at the plate trying to stretch the hit into a home run. Stafford bit for two bases to left and Werden hit for four bases, the ball rolling behind the score board in lest center. Wilson singled to right and Dolan followed with a double to left. Billy Clingman also made a double, and when the cannonade ceased five runners had scored. Fraser, who re placed Dowling, retired the side on a grounder from short to first. Swaim took McJames' place in the box after the third and did well. With the exception of Wagner's two-bagger and Clingman's single he went through the remainder of the game Manager Clarke, of the Louisvilles, after the game, released Pitcher Evans and Second Baseman Clarke unconditionally. It rumored that Washington will Evans. He pitched four games for Louisville and won three, one from Chicago one from Cleveland and one from St.

NAT. BRYAN NOT GUILTY

Jury Believes He Shot His Brother in Self-Defense.

A Drinking Party and a Fight Over a Keg of Beer-Testimony in the Case.

Nathaniel Bryan, who shot his brother James Bryan, at Nat's house, on the Brightwood road, on Saturday, June 21, was vesterday tried in the criminal court and found not guilty of assault with intent to kill.

The fight occurred over a keg of beer, and the evidence was conclusive that Bryan shot his brother, but it seemed to prove also that he did it in self-defense Everybody in the affair had been drinking beer and whisky promisenously all day. Nathuniel Bryan is a small black man, clean, and fairly intelligent looking. He wears a mustache and side whiskers The district attorney made no statement. Bryan's attorney, Mr. J. M. Langston, stated that he would show that Nathamei in self-defense. Bryan, stated that he and his brother and two others-Sam and Bertle Seymour, is sister and half-brother, who are co were drinking very fined in a saloon on the Brightwood road. He had been inking "right smart whisky and beer" di day, and they seemed to be all drunk. He finally started for his brother's house near by, with a keg of beer. After that ils mind was a blank. He remembered of being shot or hit. The next time he and any knowlester of the world he was in the Freedman's Hospital, three days after,

Thornton West testifies that he had seen othing of any quarrel, but that he called at Nathaniel Bryan's house and learned of the shooting. He had then tried to find James Bryan in the mendow near. When he had been found West helped to convey him to the house of Mr Frederick Heine From there he was taken in the patro wagon to the hospital. Frederick Heine, who lives at a short distance from Nathaniel Bryan, said thu he had heard a great disturbance in the louse and had gone over to try and stop it When he arrived he found that a fight had been going on. Nathaniel acknowledged to birn that he had shot his brothe He found James in his meadow and helper get him to the hospital.

Bertle Seymour, the sister of the men. told the story of their all drinking together in the saloon and then that they had all started in a wagon for Nathaniel's bouse A quarret had occurred at the house over keg of Jim's beer. Jim wanted Nath to carry the beer home for him, which the latter refused to do. She stated that James had pulled a latge knife and began to chase his brother with it. Nathaniel had tried to get the knife away from him, but he had avoided them. He had said: "I'll cut your heart out." The an had kept longing at Nathaniel, and finally Nat pulled out a pistol and shot

The other witnesses, Officer Stuermann and Dr. Warfield, of Freedman's, corrobo ated these statements, though nobody had seen the shooting except Bertle Seymonr Judge Cole said of the evidence that it left in the mind a feeling that all the truth had not been told. He said to the jury, however, that they must not con vict unless they were sure that the abooting had been done without sufficient provocation.
